

CHAPTER 119.

[Published April 17, 1867.]

AN ACT to authorize county supervisors to lay out, alter or discontinue highways, in certain cases.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

Laying out highways.

SECTION 1. Whenever in any town in this state there shall be less than two supervisors, the county supervisors of said county, or any number of them not less than three, shall have the same power and authority to lay out, alter or discontinue highways in such town, as is now vested in town supervisors.

Application therefor.

SECTION 2. In the cases mentioned in the first section of this act, the application to lay out, alter or discontinue such highway shall be made to the county supervisors, or to any three of them, and said county supervisors shall act upon such application in conformity with the provisions of chapter 19 of the revised statutes, entitled "of highways and bridges, and ferries," and the acts amendatory thereof, so far as the same are not inconsistent with the provisions of this act; and an appeal from any order of said county supervisors, or from their award of damages, may be made in the manner prescribed in said chapter 19, and in the acts amendatory thereof: provided, however, that notice of such appeal shall be served on the clerk of said town.

Appeals.

SECTION 3. This act shall be in force and effect from and after its passage and publication.

Approved April 10, 1867.
